

SWOSU Writing Center Plans Fall Semester Opening

08.27.2009

The Writing Center at Southwestern Oklahoma State University opens Monday, August 31, on the Weatherford campus.

Dr. Valerie Reimers said the center has several trained student consultants available this semester to help students with their writing projects. The service for SWOSU students is free, and students from any discipline are welcome to bring papers or presentations in any stage of development.

Tutors are available at various times. Those hours can be found on the SWOSU website at www.swosu.edu and by going to the Current Students section and clicking on "Academics."

Additional information is available by calling the center at 580.774.7083 or by email at writingcenter@swosu.edu. Reimers can be reached at 580.774.3244 or e-mail at valerie.reimers@swosu.edu. The center is located in the Al Harris Library basement.